ERP Software

At Sysartx, we created a Customized ERP solution for Suria and Durwesh Traders, a prominent player in the solar energy sector. Our ERP system perfectly integrates key business functions like customer management, supplier coordination, sales tracking, financial reporting, and inventory control, allowing the company to run more efficiently in a competitive market. With features like a powerful CRM, supplier tracking, and investor communication tools, the software enhances internal coordination and customer service.

By automating critical processes, the ERP software boosts operational efficiency and helps Suria and Durwesh Traders stay ahead in the market. It incorporates advanced solar technology, provides resources to educate customers on solar benefits, and simplifies supply chain management to ensure timely deliveries and reduce costs. Managed by Sysartx, this solution is a prime example of our commitment to delivering custom ERP systems that foster growth and success in the renewable energy industry.

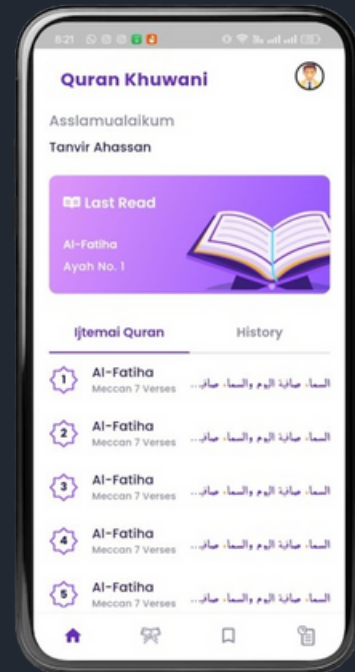

Projects

Project Name

Quran Recitation App

Category

App Development

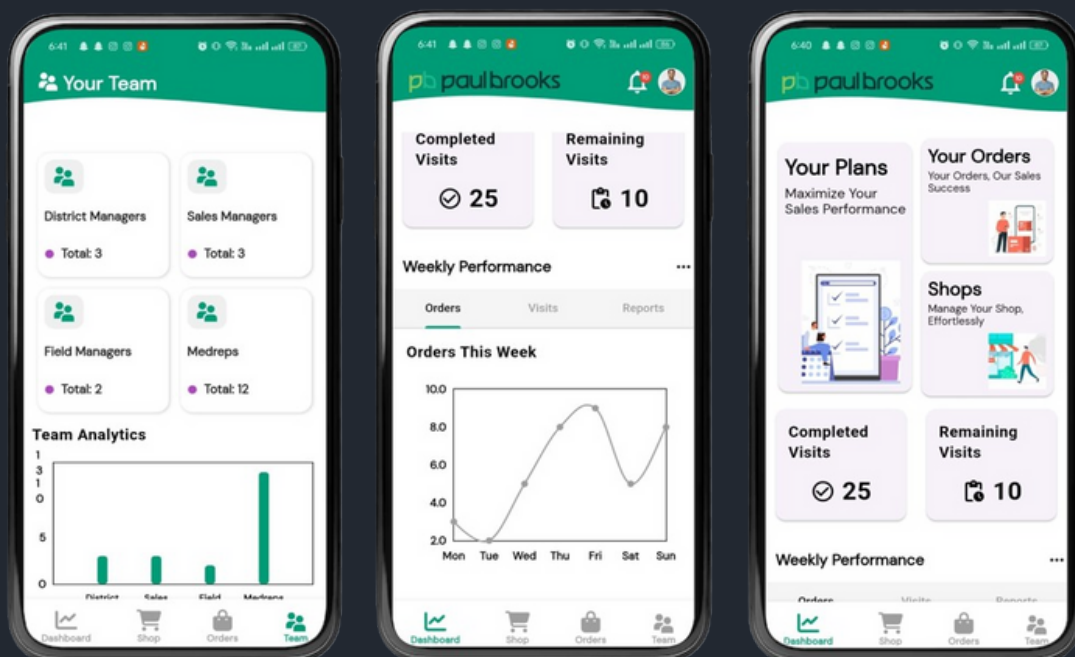

The Quranic Recitation Application is a web and mobile platform that allows users to select and recite Quranic verses in Arabic, track their individual progress, and contribute to a global recitation effort. It features verse selection, customizable text size, multiple language translations, and a collective recitation tracker that updates as users complete verses. Once the entire Quran is recited, the app resets, encouraging users to keep engaging with the community.

Users can create profiles to monitor their recitation history and progress, while a global counter tracks the total number of completed recitations. Notifications and reminders help users stay on track. Designed by Sysartx, this app offers a smooth and meaningful experience for those looking to engage in Quranic recitation.
